

Tax Expertise in Asia - An Exciting Announcement

As specialists in tax-led financial planning for British expatriates The Fry Group has always been keen to ensure that clients receive first class, personal tax advice.

Therefore, we are delighted to announce that our Tax Technical Manager, Martin Rimmer, will be relocating to our Singapore office at the end of August where he will be available for individual consultations and ongoing tax advice for clients throughout the region.

Qualified to ATT level, Martin is a specialist in residence, domicile and tax mitigation. Following two years with Arthur Andersen in London as a UK and US tax consultant, Martin moved to The Fry Group in 1999. Martin is an energetic and engaging speaker on UK tax issues, and is a regular presenter at British Chamber events. He also writes regularly for a variety of publications, and is frequently quoted in the British Press.

From his base in Singapore, Martin will also be making monthly trips to our Hong Kong office to support our clients there, as well as other trips around the region. The services he offers include:

- Residence planning – including the impact of the new Statutory Residence Test
- Domicile planning – including how to change domicile for Inheritance Tax purposes
- Inheritance Tax planning strategies
- Tax Return Compliance – including the completion of annual returns and representing your interests with HMRC
- Advising on how best to own UK property, and tax planning with mortgages
- Tax planning for a move to the UK or a retirement abroad
- Avoiding UK tax by using double taxation treaties
- Tax-efficient pension planning
- Helping you to plan for tax-efficient wealth management
- Advising on your obligations to HM Revenue & Customs
- Providing a 'health check' to make sure you are fully tax-efficient

Martin will also participate in a series of speaking engagements aimed at keeping the British expatriate population in Asia abreast of changes in UK tax legislation.

If you would like Martin to speak at your work place, update your colleagues or club members about a particular area of concern or just to be available for an informal chat to a group of friends, do get in touch. Given the importance of residence to British expatriates, a workshop for colleagues on the new Statutory Residence Test would be well worth considering.

Indeed, do feel free to pass this email on to any friends or colleagues who might be interested in an initial consultation with Martin.

We do, of course, prepare UK tax returns for many of our clients. If that is the case for you, please continue to work directly with your adviser in Worthing or Exeter for this purpose. However, Martin is fully available to you if you need any of the above tax planning, or perhaps a 'sense check' on your current levels of UK tax efficiency.

We are delighted to offer this enhanced tax service in Asia. If you would like to contact Martin please call +65 6225 0825 or send an email to martin.rimmer@thefrygroupsg.com

Martin will be available in Singapore from Monday 29th August 2011.
